Monroe County Grand Jury Indicts Paul Doser on Felony Leandra's Law Charges

Rochester, NY- On Friday, a Monroe County Grand Jury indicted Paul Doser, 40, on multiple charges including Aggravated DWI and violating the Child Passenger Protection Act, commonly known as Leandra's Law. Doser, a Monroe County Jail deputy currently on suspension, lost control of his vehicle on Brick School House Road in Hamlin on May 25th, resulting in a rollover crash. Among those in the vehicle at the time of the incident was a 6 year old child.

Doser is charged with one (1) count of Aggravated Driving While Intoxicated with a Child Passenger, one (1) count of Aggravated Driving While Intoxicated: Per Se, one (1) count of Driving While Intoxicated, one (1) count of Reckless Driving, one (1) count of Reckless Endangerment in the 2nd Degree, and one (1) count of Endangering the Welfare of a Child.

"Driving While Intoxicated is a crime that is taken very seriously in this community, but to do it with a child in the vehicle is inexcusable," said Monroe County District Attorney Sandra Doorley. "Mr. Doser's alleged actions placed the lives of two people, including that of a six year old child, in danger, and I look forward to helping ensure that would-be Leandra's Law offenders think twice before following his example."

First implemented in November 2009, Leandra's Law makes it a class E Felony to operate a motor vehicle under the influence of alcohol while transporting a child. Defendants convicted under the law face a prison sentence of up to four years and a fine of $1000-$5000, in addition to other mandatory fines associated with the charge of DWI. The law is named after Leandra Rosado, an 11 year old girl who was killed in an automobile accident in New York City as a result of the driver of the vehicle she was riding in being intoxicated.
